Emergency Management

Look no further.

Our Matching Methodology: We deliver more than just a job.

Any search firm will say they'll find you the perfect job, only BC Management can tell you how we do it. Using proprietary tools developed specifically for risk-related careers, we evaluate your skills, personality traits and preferences. Additionally, we assess organization's corporate culture and business needs. The results are stored in a searchable database used to most accurately match candidates with job requirements.

So, if you're a certified business continuity planner with a telecommunications background looking for a position in Manhattan or an emergency management professional who speaks Spanish and is job hunting in Miami, we can find the career opportunity that will showcase your skills and be a good fit. In fact, your dream job may already be in our database.

Why BC Management?

BC Management is internationally recognized as the industry's leading executive search firm and is the only search firm partnered with the DRI International. We are incredibly successful at what we do because we understand what you do.

Our professionals have decades of combined industry experience, resulting in a unique understanding of your career goals and challenges. We know business continuity, disaster recovery, information security, emergency management, and risk management inside and out. And our reach is so vast that we can help you move up the corporate ladder close to home or anywhere around the world.

What's more, we attend nearly every industry trade show and association event, conduct industry research, and speak at conferences and seminars. We see each of these opportunities as a way to reach out to both candidates and clients to establish and foster long-term relationships.

No Risk, All Reward

Beyond knowing what it takes to do your job, we know your industry. What's one of the best ways to ensure that a business continuity program will achieve long-term success? Having a C-level executive champion the cause.

Let BC Management be your champion. We have an established, worldwide network of clients who turn to us for top-quality candidates. That means only BC Management can ensure that your resume will be seen by the right people.

And though we'll pull out all the stops to help you find your dream job, we promise that we will always maintain strict confidentiality and will never, ever submit your resume without your permission.

Mission-critical Careers

At BC Management, we know that looking for a new job can be time consuming and stressful, causing both headache and heartache. But we also know how to mitigate job search misery. We'll work with you to

- listen and understand your career objectives,
